▶ Acotu - Things of Youth

I would love some feedback on the structure of this song, specifically pacing. I'm wondering if the buildup at 1:11 is too long. Also, I'm looking for a lead sound to use after the drop, let me know if you have any suggestions.

Any notes for Acotu?

The low end sounds really muddy @1:23-2:15. I would EQ out some of the sub bass frequencies and/or sidechain the bass to the kick. Here is a link to a really simple Logic Pro X sidechain compression tutorial.

I think overall the buildup is fine, but the drop doesn't hit as hard as it could. Definitely depends on what vibe you're going for, but I would consider automating a low cut on the bass to create a more noticeable contrast @seancworld I don't know, I think the song is too lowkey to have some massive buildup. Keeping the chill vibe works here.

The goal of Produce is to unite people through the power of music production, helping people intertwine their creative journeys while developing their own unique way to express their vision and their journey.

We want to make it easier for people to learn music production techniques and theory, because it is often a solo effort with little direction or guidance. Through the power of community and collaboration, our vision for Produce centers around a world where everyone can share their true musical self with the people they love.
