

Spark

Informatics in the High School Classroom

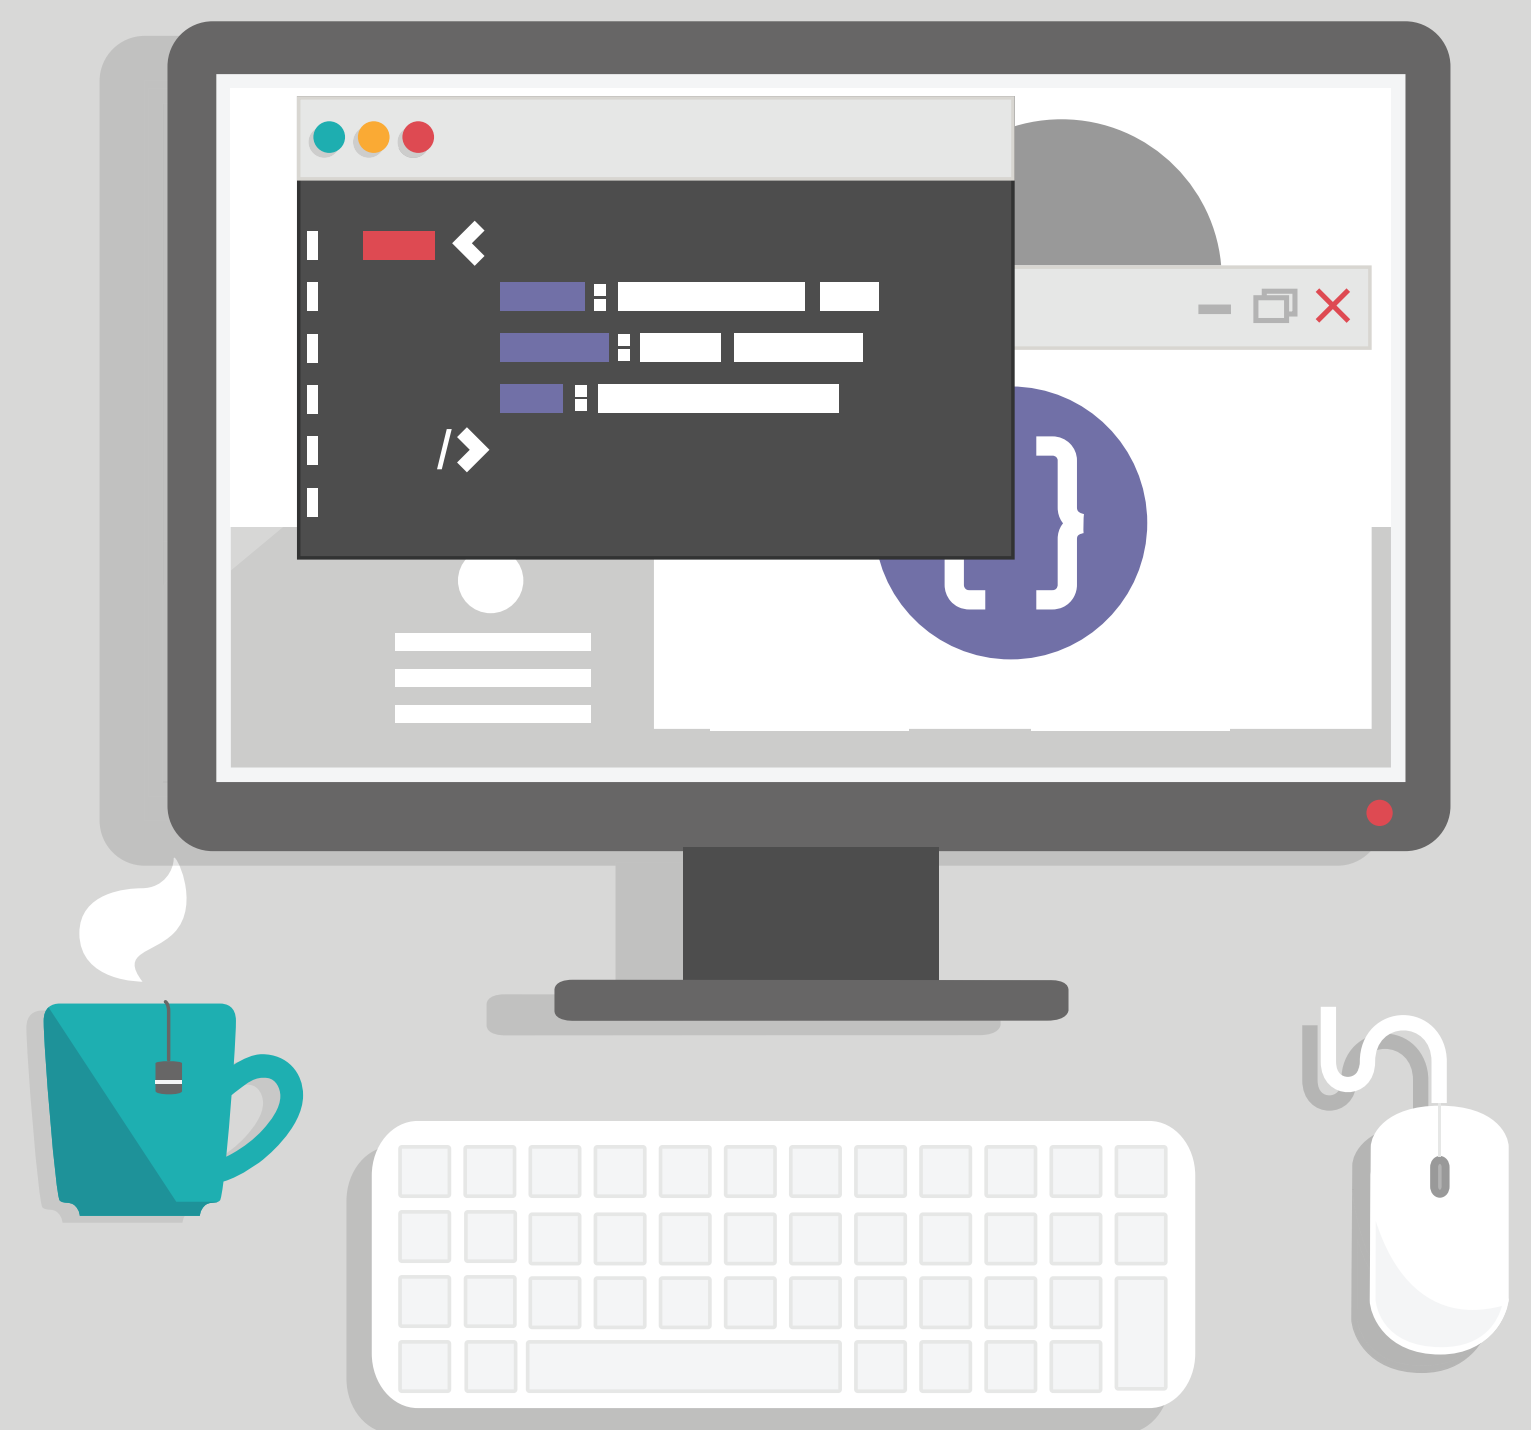

Jacob Koch · Morya Breland · Nicholas Mao · Keegan Farley

UW produces less than 500 developers a year.

Washington has 90,000 Software Developers.

Seattle's tech scene grew 12% from 2013-2015.

The tech sector is growing. High school education is not covering some key ideas.

We introduce Informatics' topics to high school students as early as possible.

So We bring college students to high school classrooms.

Our goal is to inspire students and better equip them to pursue their dreams.

visit www.projectspark.tk for more information