

SentIO

A Framework for Developers, By Developers

Developers can develop without worrying about blockchain specific details

Maintains a ledger based on the successful completion of Blockchain requests. Requiring atomicity with the guarantee of consistency.

User's public keys are stored in a separate container but used to sign all requests pushed to the Blockchain

Strong and robust security built in and usable out of the box.