Movher is a female-owned, Spokane-based moving company that develops customized moving packages that exactly fit your needs. In addition to moving, they can also pack, clean, provide storage and can ship items anywhere.

the current moving process

a new, centralized moving system

company-wide job calendar

A centralized scheduling system for employees to share job information and organize moving teams.

automated estimator tool

Allows estimators to quickly get an idea of how much a move is going to cost prior to payment.

tiered authentication

A tiered permissions system which makes managing roles easy and keeps data safe.

integrated payment processing

A standard way to place and review payments that integrates directly into the platform.
