

Academic Libraries, Higher Education in Prison, & System Impacted Students: Designing for Activism

Rebecca A Brown

Academic libraries can mindfully collaborate with higher education in prison programs and support system impacted students on their campuses. Focusing on the UW tri-campus system, this capstone drew on design thinking methods to discover obstacles for this support and generate potential solutions.

The result is a project on Manifold, a digital platform that the UW Libraries and Press are currently piloting.

Information School
UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES
UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON