

CuriosityBased: 7 Forms of Respect™ Assessment Visualizer

7 forms of respect

Who is CB?

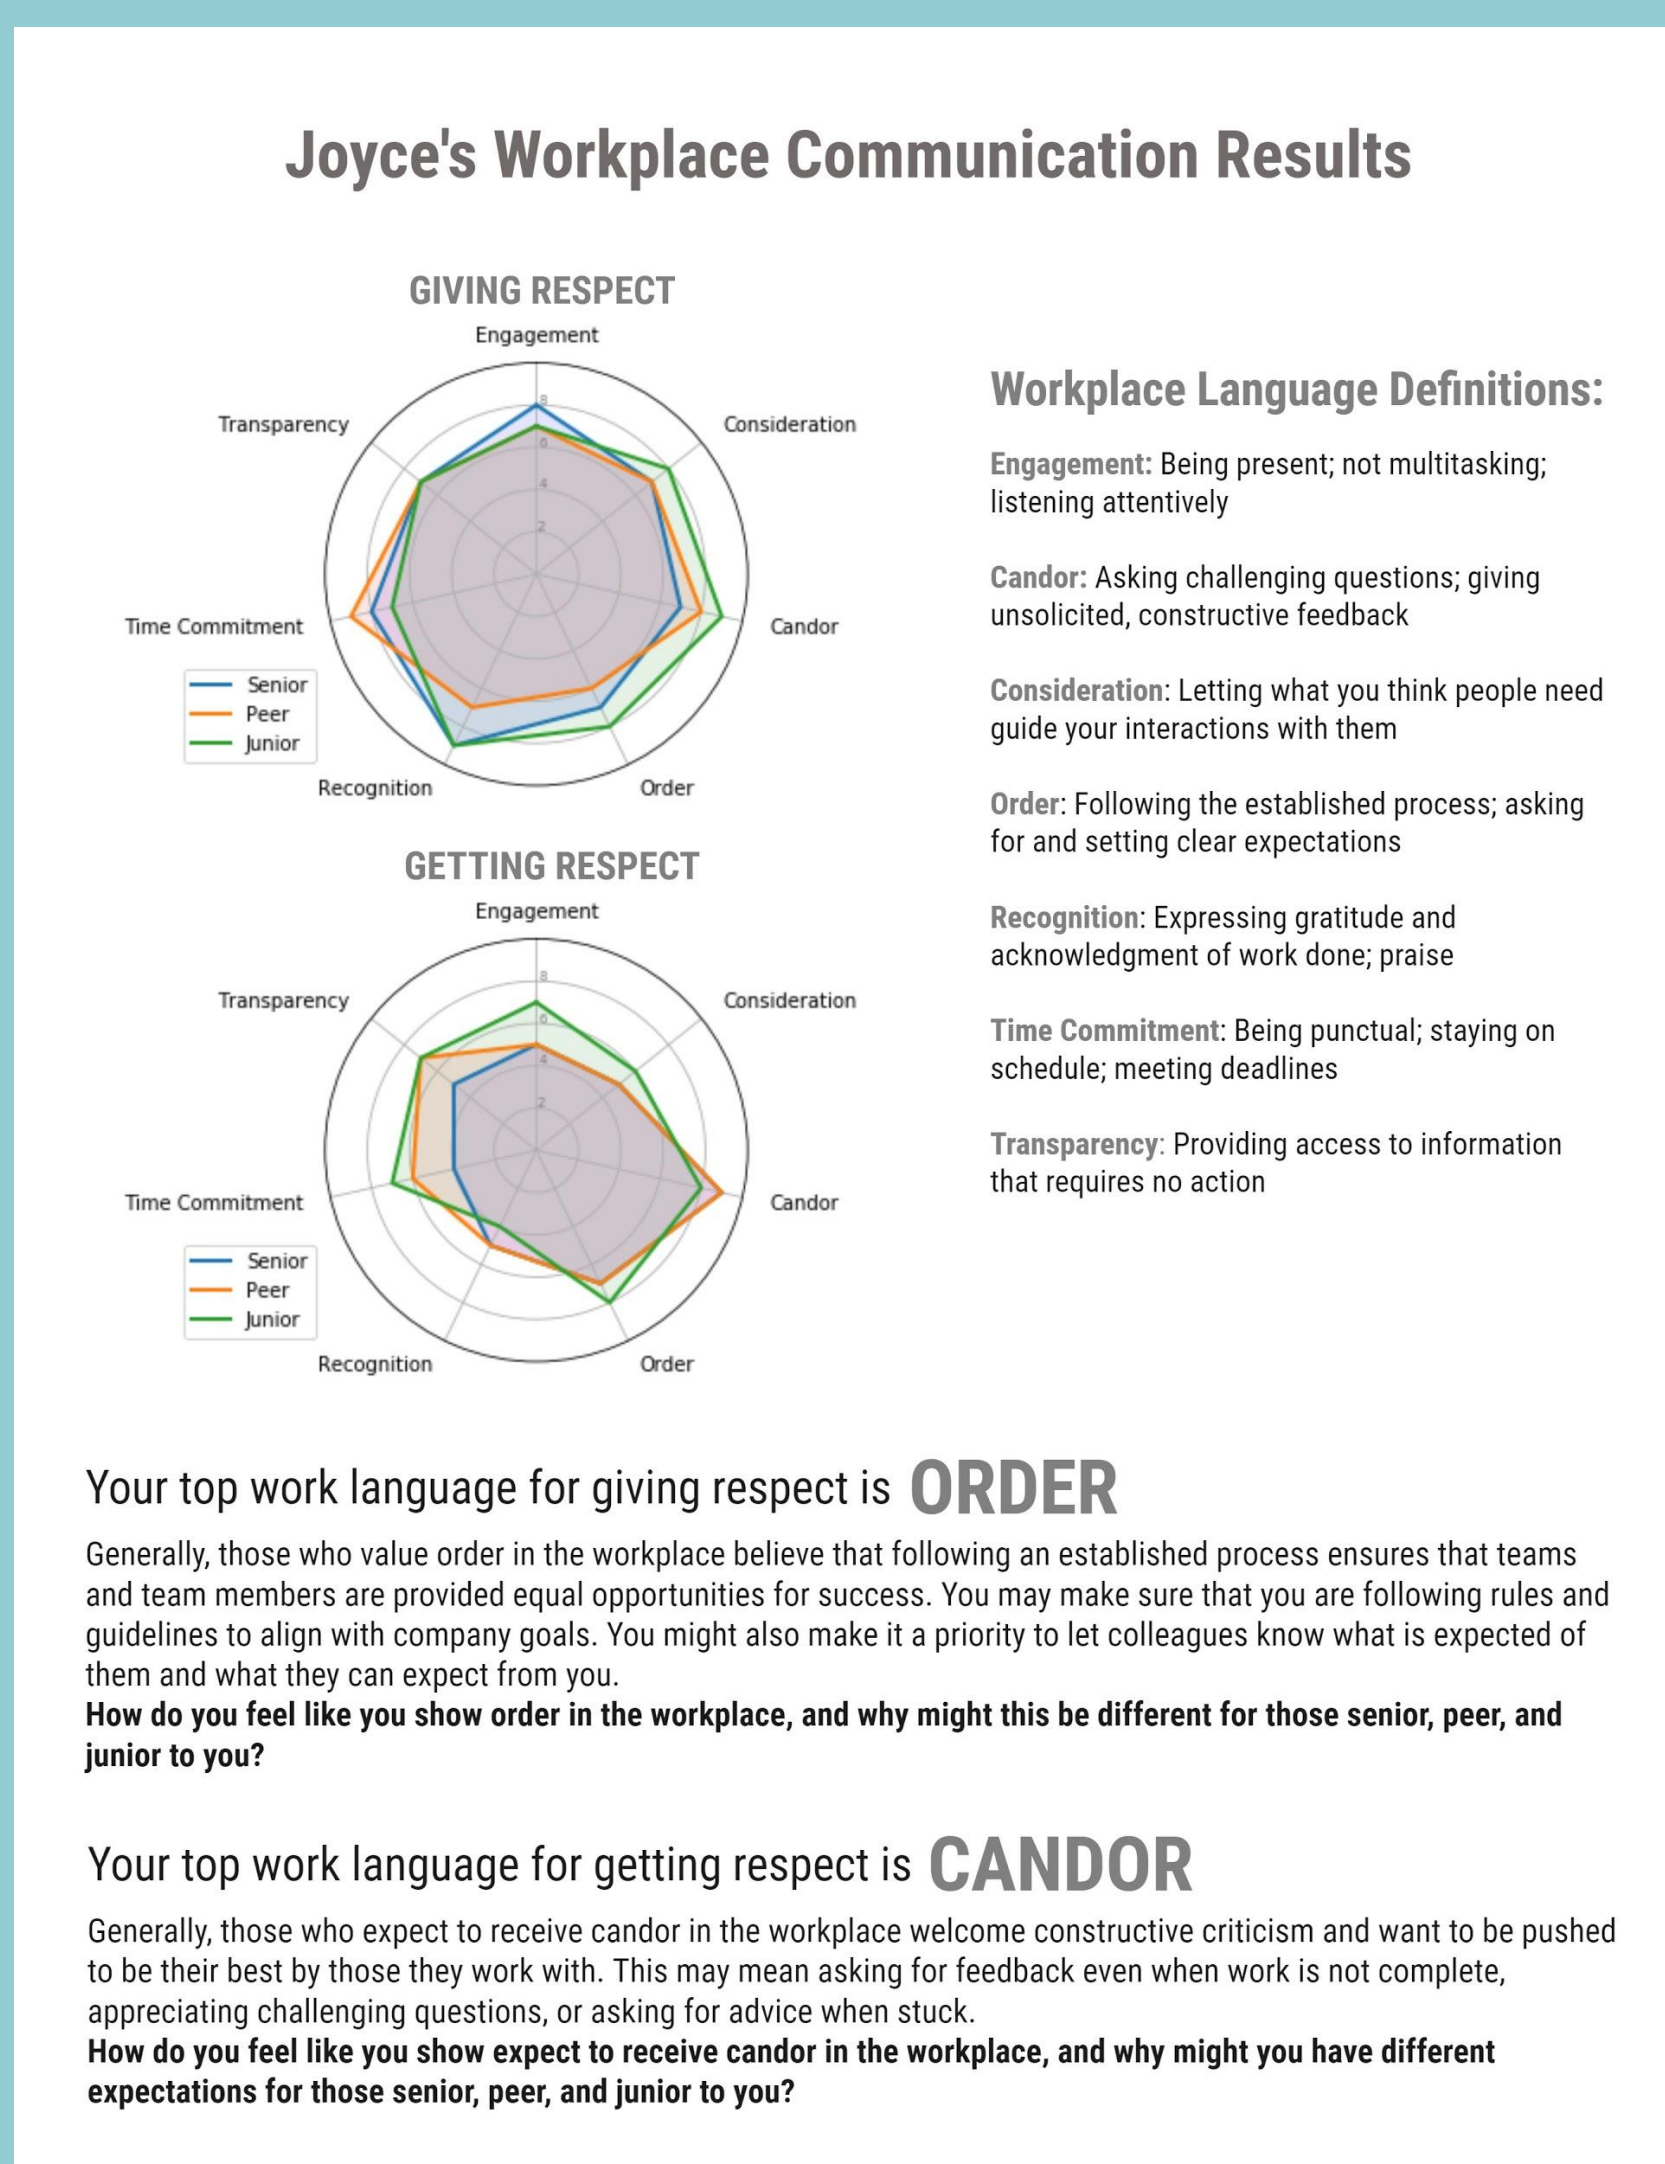

CuriosityBased (CB) creates content to help individuals and teams communicate more effectively, primarily for work and secondarily, outside of work. The tools include assessments, workshops, and publications.

The Problem

Currently, a CB technical team member endures the process of manually generating results for users after taking the 7 Forms of Respect™ assessment. They need a way to automate the process and redesign their results.

The Solution:

In order to assist in result delivery, AJ & Co created a tool based on a python script to automate the results. The tool takes in an answer key, user test results, and outputs a PDF of the user's results.

Attention: Being present; not multitasking; listening attentively

Candor: Asking challenging questions; giving unsolicited, constructive feedback

Consideration: Letting what you think people need guide your interactions with them

Procedure: Following the established process; asking for and setting clear expectations

Acknowledgment: Expressing gratitude and acknowledgment of work done; praise

Punctuality: Being punctual; staying on schedule; meeting deadlines

Information: Providing access to information that requires no action