

Problem

Websites that provide volunteering and donating opportunities often lack a centralized hub for communicating, displaying, and tracking the progress of service projects.

Evaluation

We conducted user studies on the current Imara prototype. Users who evaluated Imara stated that it delivers a simple, informative, and engaging way to get involved with service projects.

How it Works

Solution

Imara is a web platform that promotes a social and collaborative atmosphere allowing volunteers, community members, donors and subject matter experts to exchange knowledge and contribute up-to-date information on the progress of projects.

