Inspiration

Our project is inspired by the social difficulties that arise when moving to a new city for educational or occupational reasons as well as an apparent need for an application to quickly organize activities with friends. There is well documented anecdotal evidence that people often experience difficulties establishing and maintaining new friendships in an unfamiliar place. In Seattle, the colloquial term for this is "The Seattle Freeze."

What do we do?

Do Something! is an Android Application that facilitates real-world interactions and activities with an activity planning service. Users can create events and activities at a designated time and place and can either invite friends or open the event to the public to meet new people who are interested in the same activities.

What is our goal?

The end goal is to connect people with similar interests as well as make it easier for friends to organize activities at the drop of a hat. We want to minimize the social overhead and burden that comes from trying to meet new friends. Do Something! also reduces introduced by activity planning and reduce reliance on intrusive and annoying group texting.
