

PROBLEM

U-District's young homeless population is often underrepresented, since their stories and experiences are largely absent from public conscious

History of physical & emotional abuse between UW students and homeless young people causes them to feel unsafe on UW's campus

ENGAGEMENT

Utilized Professor David Hendry's research on homeless young people to learn about their presence in the U-District

Volunteered weekly throughout Capstone to engage with homeless young people and listen to their stories and journey

3D interactive narrative to portray the lived experiences of Univeristy District homeless young people to challenge stereotypes.

SOLUTION

Deep storytelling and interactions grounded in community research

Full cast of characters reflecting the diversity of the community

Immersive 3D Environment for audience to experience real-life scenarios