

Reclaim your potential. Hit your tempo.

Problem

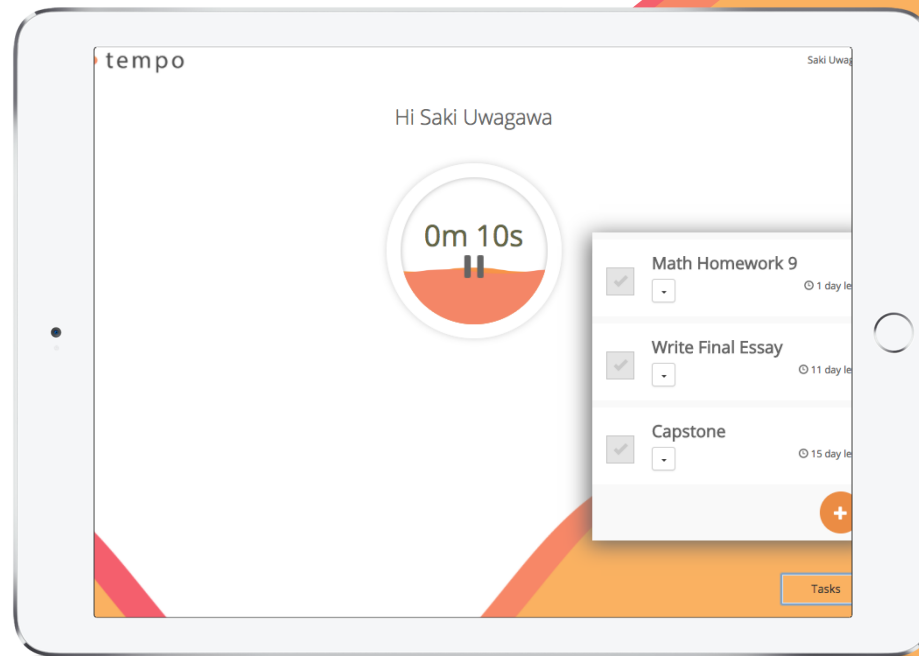

Procrastination happens when you are overwhelmed by starting a new task. This leads to starting at the last minute and producing lower quality work, preventing you from reaching your full potential.

9 out of 10 struggle with procrastination

biggest challenge is getting started

Solution

Tempo breaks this cycle by reminding you to think about your work earlier on. By planting the task in your mind earlier, you are able to make a mental plan for how to work on it. This makes getting started easier and leads to higher quality work.

Task prioritization & reminders
Simply input your task names, sizes, and due dates and Tempo will automatically prioritize what you should focus on first. You will receive occasional notifications to encourage you to start thinking about your task.

Minimalist theme
With a clean and simple interface, you will not feel overwhelmed by excess information and can focus your most important tasks.

Google Calendar integration
Tempo syncs with your Google Calendar to effectively integrate your task reminders into your schedule.

Pomodoro
Tempo incorporates the Pomodoro technique in which you work in cycles of 25 minutes of work time and 5 minutes of break time. With frequent short breaks you maintain motivation and productivity.

Sam Bender
DEVELOPER

Amelia Burger
PROJECT MANAGER

Bryce Kolton
DEVELOPER

Saki Uwagawa
DESIGNER