

Frontier helps entry-level job candidates build brilliant portfolio projects that companies care about

The Pain Points

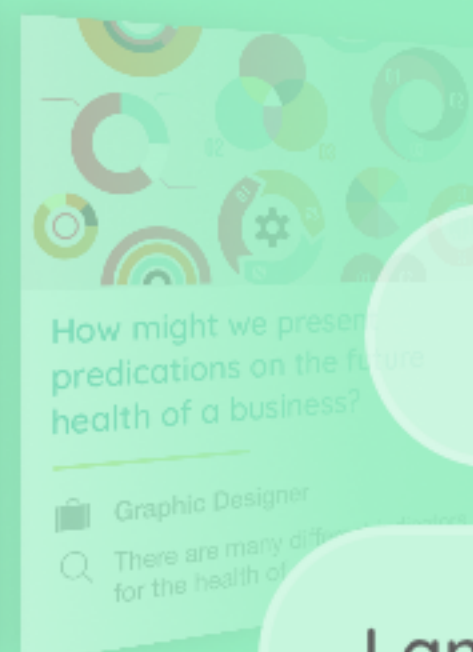

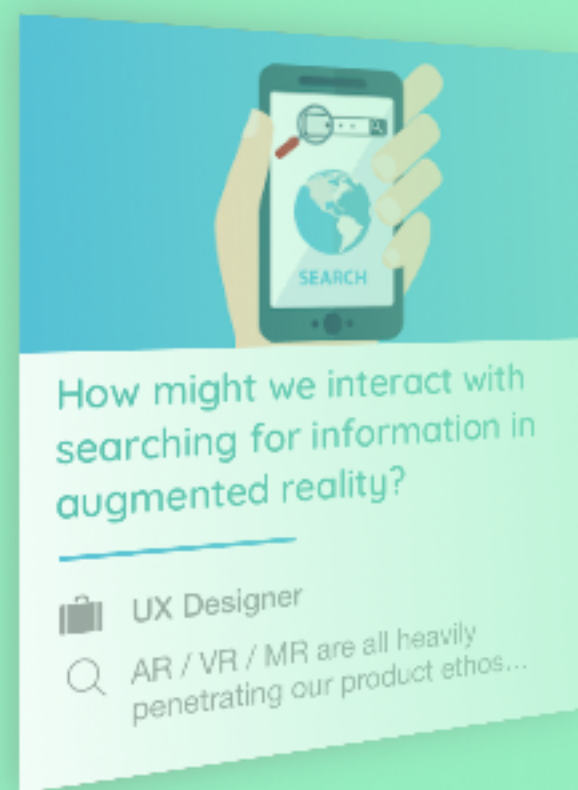

Due to little relevant job experience, entry-level job candidates rely heavily on their portfolio for employment evaluation. A problem is that doing portfolio projects requires (1) picking a good project that companies care about, (2) knowing how to do them, and (3) staying accountable to finishing.

USA Market Size

$124B

Recruiting/Staffing (2015)

Job Candidate User Flow

Browse hundreds of projects based on your career interests

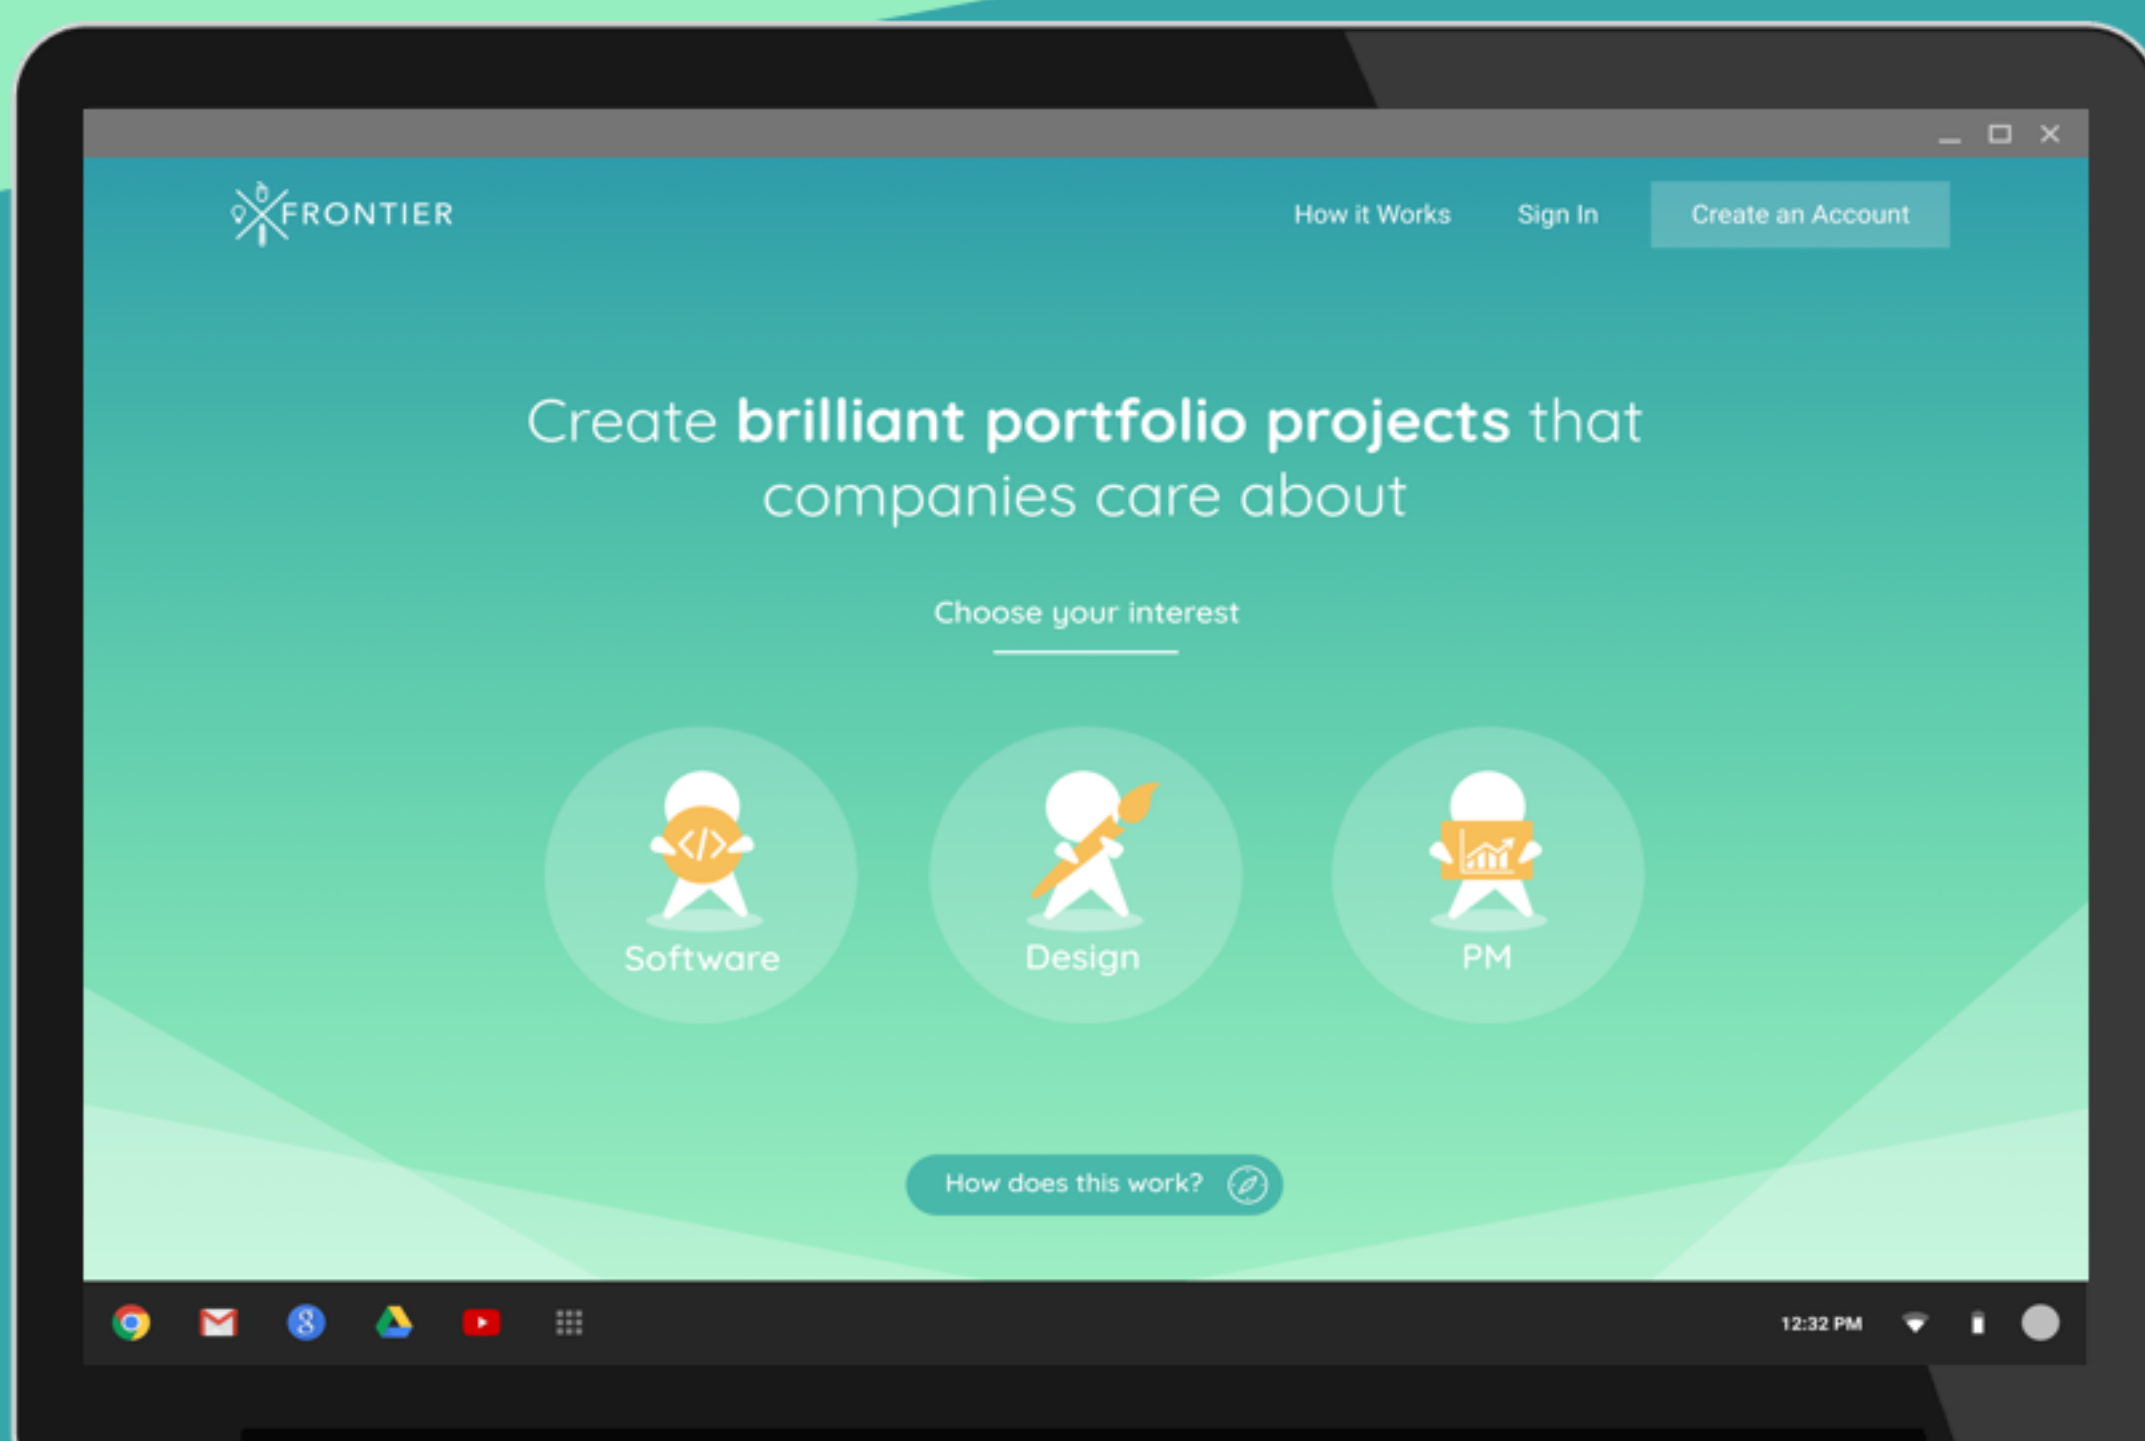

1

Build projects based on interested companies specifications

2

Land great jobs at brilliant companies

3

Pilot Companies:

amazon.com

Rover

streamline

Justin Ith
Jeff Zhong

