

Learning a new language can be difficult.

Learners read in their target language and look up words to understand a sentence, but forget them shortly after.

forword.io

DISCOVERY

A screenshot of the "New Word" form. It has a title bar "New Word" with a close button. The form contains several input fields: "Word" (with "demonstrate" entered), "Definition", "Example Sentence", "Image URL (optional)", "Tags (optional)", and "Notes". At the bottom, there are "Cancel" and "Add Word" buttons.

CURATION

A screenshot of the "Word Bank" interface. It features a search bar at the top. Below it is a table with columns for "Word", "Tags", "Date Added", and "Last Seen".

Word	Tags	Date Added	Last Seen
infiltrate	verb	15 Sep, 8:56 AM (2015)	8 Mar, 8:56 AM (2016)
defenstration	noun	15 Sep, 7:12 AM (2015)	8 Mar, 7:12 AM (2016)
insufficient	adj	15 Sep, 4:34 AM (2015)	8 Mar, 4:34 AM (2016)

MASTERY

A screenshot of the "Study session" interface. It shows a progress bar at the top with "ForWord" and a score of "10". Below the progress bar is a "Study session" section with a sentence: "The mayor ordered his dog to _____ the neighbor's yard." There are four buttons below the sentence: "infiltrate", "pocket", "insidious", and "drill". Below this are sections for "Objectives" (Daily: Add 5 words, Complete a study session; Weekly: Add 40 words, Daily visits) and "New Word Suggestions" (arbitrate, Not interested).

learning and job placement, integrating international and online students, and providing opportunities for student involvement in research. We demonstrate how, when necessary, technology and community spirit facilitate the effective accomplishment of our ForWord is a desktop app consisting of a browser extension that lets you easily store words to from any page you're reading.

No more forgetting: Our gamified platform uses a spaced repetition system to make sure you master the words you want to learn.

Maximize your learning potential with automatic suggestions for related words to learn without having to leave the page!